Opening of new sports and leisure complex delayed again

By CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

THE opening of Harlow's new multi-million pound sports and leisure centre has been delayed for the THIRD time.

Leisurezone, in Southern Way, was scheduled to open to the public this month, but developers Leadbitter have now put back the building completion date until late April.

A further four weeks will be then required following the handover of the complex to the Harlow Sports Trust to enable the building to be fully fitted out.

It means the public will not be able to use the facilities until late May at the earliest.

A spokeswoman for project co-ordinators The Gateway Partnership said the delay had come about despite the best efforts of the partner agencies.

"While the further delay is deeply disappointing, the Gateway partners remain determined to ensure that quality and safety are not compromised in any way and that the town has a high quality sporting and leisure facility of which it can be proud of for many years to come."

The project was originally due to be completed in October last year but has suffered a series of setbacks.

Bad weather forced the original opening date to be delayed to January of this year. Then a building inspection raised safety concerns over the installation of fire dampers, pushing back the estimated completion date until this month.

A joint statement issued by Harlow Council's Conservative, Labour and Liberal Democrat leaders this week said they were extremely frustrated by this latest development.

"Excitement has been building for the opening of Leisurezone and these further delays will come as a disappointment to residents too," they said.

"These delays are out of the partners' hands and we have asked that once again our disappointment is registered with the contractors.

"When Leisurezone opens, the town will have a high quality sports and

A Letter from Robert Halfon Prospective MP

March 2010

Dear Reader ,

For close to ten years, I have been your Conservative Parliamentary and Community champion and have been proud to work for local residents across the Constituency as a volunteer. I have not received any wages, allowances or expenses from the taxpayer. I have done this because I care deeply about Harlow and the surrounding villages of Hastingwood, Nazeing, Roydon and Sheering. As a child, I was brought up down the road in North London. My relative owned John Walton Clothes Shop that was in Harlow Town Centre for many years and opened by Arthur Askey in the 1950s.

I love living in Harlow because we have everything here: green spaces, great shops and above all, a thriving community. But, I want to help make Harlow an even better place to live and work. My own walking disability has given me a strength and determination. I've learned compassion and dignity for those in need. I am in politics to help the most vulnerable and to fight for what is just and right: a better NHS, more police on our streets, less traffic and getting to grips with our immigration problems.

So, these are the concerns I will fight hard for:

- 1 Ending Gordon Brown's recession that has hit Harlow Constituency hard with high unemployment, high debt and high taxes.
- 2 Harlow Housing money for Harlow people. For £13.5 million of OUR housing rent money to be spent in Harlow, not taken away to be spent elsewhere by Gordon Brown. To save our green belt from Brown's bulldozers.
- 3 An extra by-pass to the M11 from the A414. We have had 14 years of Labour, yet nothing has been done.
- 4 Better education and skills for our young people: 200,000 extra apprenticeships over two years and 1,000 for Essex. 1,000 for Essex. 100,000 extra further education places.
- 5 A stronger NHS, stopping Gordon Brown's regional cuts to A&E and Maternity Services putting undue pressure back on Princess Alexandra Hospital.

I hope you will join with me and vote for change on election day. Let's make Harlow an even better place to live.

Rob with David Cameron

Building works starts on town's new school

WORK is now under way on the construction of Harlow's new multi-million pound superschool.

A ceremony was held on Friday to mark the start of work at the Tracy's Road site of the new Passmore's School and Technology College.

Representatives from Essex County Council and construction company Willmott Dixon were joined by Passmore's headteacher Vic Goddard, head boy Mark Waters and head girl Alice Freeman.

Work is expected to be completed in the summer of 2011, with the school expected to welcome its first batch of students in September of the same year.

The state-of-the-art facilities will include a four-court sports hall, outdoor playing pitches, a four-court multi-use games area and an all-weather floodlit playing surface.

Mr Goddard said: "Students and staff are all very excited about the potential the new school brings. It is great to see investment being put into education and I am sure that the new facilities will inspire our students for many years to come."

Stephen Castle, Essex County Council's cabinet member for education, added: "The new school will be a fantastic asset for Harlow and promises to provide a first class education for students."

Teen yob claims ASBO's a breach of human rights

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

A TEENAGE yob who was hit with an anti-social behaviour order returned to court this week to claim it was a breach of his human rights.

Rory Brytz (18), formerly of Tanys Dell, Harlow, but now living in Suffolk, was given an ASBO by Harlow magistrates in September last year following a two-year campaign of hell-raising and harassment in and around The Stow.

As a consequence, Brytz was banned from entering an area of the town bordered by First Avenue, Mistley Road, Mowbray Road, Howard Way, Minchen Road and Mardyke Road for a period of two years.

But this week his lawyers told Chelmsford Crown Court that the exclusion zone was too large and claimed the terms of the ASBO were "excessive" as it prevented Brytz from spending time with a 16-year-old friend.

Robert Ward, representing Brytz, claimed his client's human rights – specifically the "right to have the freedom to mix with whom he wishes" – had been breached by the order.

Referring to the 16-year-old, who cannot be named for legal reasons but who also appealed against an ASBO imposed on him – Mr Ward added: "They lived

RORY Brytz committed a burglary in Harlow two months AFTER he was given an ASBO, a court heard on Monday.

Appearing at a separate hearing at Chelmsford Crown Court, Brytz admitted burgling a house in Ladyshot and breaching his ASBO at the same time by committing criminal damage.

The court was told he broke into the address on November 5 last year and stole a television, laptop and jewellery worth £800.

Judge Roger Hayward-Smith sent Brytz to Ipswich Crown Court where he is currently awaiting sentence for six other burglaries carried out since his move to Suffolk.

close to each other [in Harlow] and would want to stop and say hello."

But Judge Roger Hayward-Smith, sitting with two justices, told the lawyer: "What about everyone else's human right to be free of your client?"

Sergeant Lewis Basford, of Essex Police, told the court that since the order was imposed, reports of anti-social behaviour from shops and homes in the area covered by the exclusion zone had fallen by 95 per cent.

Gemma Spence, representing

Essex Police, read statements to the court prepared for the original hearing by people living in the affected area identifying Brytz as a ringleader and describing groups of young people swearing, smoking cannabis and intimidating residents.

Further claims involved Brytz allegedly punching the glass of a shop, repeatedly stealing from another and members of his group being "high on drink or drugs".

The outcome of the appeal will be given at a hearing on a date yet to be fixed.

Harlow MP Bill Rammell added: "I am extremely disappointed that there are further delays to the opening of this absolutely fantastic new centre.

"I am pressing the council and the sports trust to ensure that the contractors deliver on their latest promise and open the centre in May."

Students turn to pedal power to raise charity cash

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

MORE than 100 travel students from Harlow College have raised £730 taking part in a canal-themed sponsored bicycle ride.

The riders, aged from 16 to 20, covered a distance equivalent to a trip from Harlow to Venice in one day – but never left the confines of the Harvey Centre.

Cycling in groups of 10, they took it in turns on exercise bikes borrowed from local fitness club Esporta.

The college encourages its students to give something back to the community by support local projects or charities. Those in the travel and public services department decided to do something a bit different and raise cash for the Harlow Canal Boat Project.

Lecturer Kelly Edwards said: "Every year the students surprise us with their enthusiasm and ingenuity and this year is no exception. "They worked extremely hard, researching an appropriate small local charity and gaining support from the college, their friends and family, Esporta and working on the overall organisation of the event."

The 'journey' took them through five countries and they dressed in the national costumes of each one.

Harvey Centre manager Bryan Young said: "It was great to be approached by the college to help the students in their admirable project."

The Harlow Canal Boat Project provides affordable cruises on Essex and Hertfordshire waterways for anyone with a disability, their carers, charities and community groups.

HCBP spokeswoman Doreen Goodall said: "We are delighted that the students have decided to nominate us as their charity this year.

"Every penny the students raise will go towards the provision and maintenance of our four accessible canal boats, enabling us to ensure that the disabled have the same access to our beautiful countryside as anyone else."

Shoppers give generously to food collection

HARLOW shoppers donated a bumper 35 boxes of food to a charity that provides emergency help to people in crisis.

Volunteers from Harlow Foodbank collected the donations from shoppers at the Sainsbury's store in Fifth Avenue.

Jacqueline Cotton, Harlow foodbank project co-ordinator said: "I was amazed at the ongoing generosity of people in Harlow who donated food. It was so encouraging.

"It was great to see the local community supporting their own neighbours in such a practical and positive way." The group also collected £40 in donations.

Gary Knott, the charity's director of community services: "The Foodbank is operating to support Harlow people who find themselves in crisis and in need of food. It is rewarding to see the community so positive about the project through these difficult times.

"It is hard to describe the difference giving a foodbox makes to parents whose children would otherwise go to bed hungry."

By the end of last month Harlow Foodbank had collected a staggering 13.6 tonnes of food, which has helped almost 800 people.

Hospice seeks daredevils for Easter bungee

HASTINGWOOD-based St Clare Hospice is looking for daredevils willing to take part in its first ever Easter bunny bungee jump.

The 170-foot plunge will take place on Saturday, April 3 at North Weald Airfield.

One of those who will be taking part is Michelle Cooper, who said: "Life is for living and you only live once."

It costs £20 to register but the hospice asks that participants pledge to raise £100 in sponsorship for them.

To register or for more information, contact the fundraising team at St Clare Hospice on (01279) 773 750 or visit the website at www.stclarehospice.org.uk.

Pub's gifts to baby care unit

A PUB in Old Harlow has raised more than £500 for the neo-natal intensive care unit at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

The White Horse, in Hart Road, held a fund raising event with live music, a raffle and a barbecue. The money was used to buy lamps and bulbs for work benches inside the unit and a monitor which alerts staff when noise levels are too high for babies.

Senior sister Jo Clarke said: "Babies in intensive care are particularly sensitive to high noise levels and to the increased stress that they cause.

"Noise from visitors and staff is best dealt with using a monitor as it is not influenced by the complicated human perception of noise."

Police appeal for witnesses to bike 'prank' at rail station

TRANSPORT police have issued an appeal for information in connection with an ongoing inquiry after a bike was thrown into the path of a train at Harlow Mill Station.

The bike was thrown from one of the platforms, narrowly missing an oncoming train and landing at the side of the tracks. The incident occurred at approximately 3pm on Sunday, February 21.

PC Lee Williamson, who is heading the investigation, said: "This was a prank that could have gone horribly wrong."

"I would ask that anyone who may have witnessed the incident to come forward and help identify those responsible."

Police are particularly keen to speak to anyone who was using the road bridge over the tracks or who saw any suspicious activity involving a group of youths nearby.

Anyone with information should contact British Transport Police on 0800 405040, quoting log reference 208 of 21 February.

Woman hit by express train

A WOMAN died after being struck by a train near Sawbridgeworth station on Sunday morning.

Catering assistant Carol Hayes (54), who lived in the town, suffered multiple injuries.

According to British Transport Police she was seen by the driver of the 9.25am London to Stansted Airport express to jump into the path of the train.

Police officers and paramedics from the East of England Ambulance Service were called to Station Road shortly after 10am.

A spokesman for British Transport Police said the incident is not being treated as suspicious.

An inquest was opened and adjourned on Tuesday.

Council to call time on one hour free parking?

By DAN PHILLIPS

dan.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

FREE parking at Harlow Town Park could soon be scrapped in a council review of charges across the town.

Despite the introduction of fees at car parks in Old Harlow, The Stow, Bush Fair and the Town Park last year, the first hour remained free.

But a new charge of 90p for the first two hours' parking could soon be introduced at the Town Park – although the council said it had yet to reach a decision on when it would be implemented.

Signs notifying motorists of the change were removed last week.

Other proposals under consideration include increasing charges levied on those using car parks across Harlow by up to 10 per cent.

This week Labour councillor Tony Durcan, whose group proposed abolishing the fees altogether in an alternative budget presented to the full council last month, blasted the plans.

"I first thought this was a simple error but I was shocked to find out that the hour's free parking is being reviewed," he told the Star.

"This shows that what the Tories say in public is different to what they do in private and is a sign of things to come across the town."

"It was wrong for them to introduce car parking charges last year. It is obvious how opposed residents are to having to pay to park in our small neighbourhood shopping centres and at the Town Park."

"Their only concession was to offer the first hour free and now Tories are set on taking even this away."

But Simon Carter, chairman of the council's policy and resources committee, said the council had deferred the implementation of new charges as "new opportunities" were being considered.

"The council is keen to keep fees and charges to residents to a minimum," he added.

"Changes to car park charges were part of the budget and these charges were included in the budget reports."

"We are constantly monitoring our budgets and seeking opportunities to reduce any impact of such charges."

"As new funding is identified we will review charges and the possibility for reducing or removing them."

Trust to seek talks over claims of photo ban on works of art

THE guardians of Harlow's nationally recognised collection of public sculptures are seeking talks with the management of The Water Gardens after reports of security staff stopping people from photographing the works of art.

Concerns have been raised by Harlow Civic Society and the Friends of Harlow Sculpture that residents and visitors to the town have been prevented from taking photos of the four sculptures in the Water Gardens complex.

And Harlow Art Trust, which owns the works that include Henry Moore's Upright Motive No 2 (pictured right) and Rodin's Eve, has not ruled out moving them to sites elsewhere in the town.

Jackie Storey, chairman of Friends of Harlow Sculpture, described the situation as "ridiculous", especially since Harlow has acquired sculpture town status.

"You cannot prevent people taking photos on public land but since it was developed the Water Gardens has become private land," she said. "So they can stop people if they want to which is ridiculous.

"They are owned by Harlow Art Trust with the whole ethos that the sculpture would be available for residents and visitors to see. That's why it's called a sculpture town."

A spokeswoman for Harlow Art Trust said they had only recently been made aware of the problem.

"This is of concern to the trust and action will be taken in the coming weeks to discuss the issue with the Water Gardens management," she said.

"Harlow's collection of post-war sculpture is unrivalled and ensuring full public access to the collection is of paramount importance."

However, Water Gardens manager Beryl Murphy denied there was a policy to stop people taking photographs. "We recognise that they are of public interest," she said.

"To my knowledge, no-one has been asked to leave the site or stop taking photos. It may be that there has been a situation where our staff have said someone cannot take photos without permission."

"From a security point of view we do ask that, out of courtesy, groups do ask us and let us know what they're doing because it is private land."

Help us to help others by joining the Midnight Walk

WITH St Clare Hospice celebrating its 20th anniversary this year, hopes are high that the Midnight Walk will set a new fundraising record.

This year's 10km walk, which once again is supported by the Star, takes place on Saturday, June 19

"We have for the past two decades provided specialist care to thousands of local people with life-limiting illnesses and thousands more friends and family members around them," said chief executive Richard Cowie.

"That vital care is provided free of charge to patients and their carers, but as a charity we have to find in excess of £2.5m each and every year.

"It never fails to amaze me on a personal level the commitment that our local community give us. Whether an offer of support is through a financial donation or by giving your time or by taking part in an event such as the Midnight Walk, it all goes along way to making our work possible.

"We were started by the community for the community and that remains one of our core values as an organisation.

"At a national level the Government, by publishing the end of life care strategy, recognised that people have the desire to be cared for in their own home and, where possible, die in their own home. As a hospice we are not ignoring this wish and we will work towards meeting it. To do so we need the continued support of the public.

"The Midnight Walk is not only a great fundraising event. It has become a focal point in the hospice year, with patients' families taking part, volunteers from all corners of our area coming together and staff from all departments joining in for a night of entertainment, fun and real team spirit.

"So please do sign up to take part this year. We need your support to carry on doing what we do best for real people at a time when they need us most. And also so we can grow to care for more people in the very best way possible, supporting dignity and choice until the end."

This year walk organisers have set a target of £140,000 and are looking for 2,000 walkers to take part. To take part you must be 14 or over. The cost of registration is £15.

"More than 100 people have already signed up which we are delighted about," said Tracy Stratford, events fundraiser for the hospice. "But despite sending out a lot of application forms we're still quite a way off our 2,000 walker target at the moment.

"So if you have a form sitting at home and have a spare five minutes in the evening, fill out your details or register online. Don't delay, sign up today!"

Fears for future of 'Watch' group

THE former chairman of a neighbourhood watch scheme to cut crime and anti-social behaviour has dismissed fears it will collapse following his recent retirement.

Earlier this year Albert Hobdell (81) announced he was standing down after chairing the Harlow Independent

By DAN PHILLIPS

Neighbourhood Watch for nearly a decade.

Since then the group has had trouble electing a replacement for Mr Hobdell and it is currently being run by secretary Lisa Sayers.

But Mrs Sayers' husband and group volunteer Richard told the Star this week: "It will undoubtedly fold. Albert is an awfully big man for someone to take over from.

"It takes a lot of time and it's not an easy thing to do. My wife has been handed everything but we are a working family and we don't have the time.

"We are having trouble trying to get someone to run it and at the same time there are outside agencies trying to muscle in and take over.

"But it's a volunteer group and always has been."

The scheme has around 200 members and 20 co-ordinators in various areas. The executive committee is due to meet in July.

Mr Hobdell, who has chaired the group since 2001 but resigned because of health problems, said he hoped a successor would come from within the current membership.

"I'm confident Neighbourhood Watch will go on as long as the people of Harlow need it," he said.

"Many people think that because it's all for nothing and it doesn't have a big budget that it won't last. Besides, I won't simply walk away."

Police have recently suggested two officers take control but this option is not favoured by group members.

"Eight years ago the police told us we have to run it ourselves," said Mr Hobdell. "Since then it has gone from strength to strength.

"Besides, we're constitutionally independent so unless that is repealed we could not accept that."

Mr Hobdell has won various awards for his work in the community and has agreed to stay on in an advisor capacity.

Fuel seized in customs raid

THOUSANDS of litres of illegal fuel have been seized from an industrial estate in Harlow by HM Revenue & Customs officers.

More than 8,500 litres of diesel were discovered in storage tanks at the haulage site. A vehicle was seized and the site owner was fined £750.

HMRC spokesman Mark Allison said people who use rebated fuel were cheating honest citizens out of vital funding for public services.

Speaking up for Britain

I spoke in the Parliament in support of British private pilots whose unique qualification, the "IMC Rating," is soon to be abolished by the EU, despite its excellent safety record. The alternative will be prohibitively expensive for most pilots.

I also spoke against the EU pet passport scheme which lowers our high standards of animal health protection. Even operating at these lower standards, the EU scheme is dependent on all 27 countries having incorruptible officials administering the process.

A foreign MEP tried but failed to force a motion asking the Commission to interfere with trading arrangements between the UK and Columbia (South America).

Thug beat up cabbie in road rage attack

A THUG who assaulted a cab driver in a road rage attack has been spared jail.

Lewis Eley (22), formerly of London Road, Harlow, blocked the road so he could beat up Anthony Spellacey after the cabbie dropped off a mother and son at a doctor's surgery in Church Langley.

Chelmsford Crown Court was told that Eley passed the cab on the nearside at a roundabout in Church Langley Way, causing Mr Spellacey to sound his horn.

The defendant replied with a hand gesture and repeated blasts on his own horn.

Emma Nash, prosecuting, said Eley then followed the cabbie to the surgery car park, blocked the exit with his own vehicle and ran over to Mr Spellacey's Ford Mondeo and attacked him.

One witness said they heard the noise of Eley's ferocious blows as they connected with the victim's head and body, while another described the defendant as an "absolute psycho".

in blood from two head wounds which needed to be glued together.

Ms Nash said he also suffered bruising and started to experience migraines. As a result he had to have a series of neurological tests including a brain scan.

Russell Robinson, representing Eley, said in mitigation he was genuinely remorseful, adding that the attack had been "a flash in the pan".

Passing sentence, Judge Anthony Goldstaub said road rage was unacceptable and would normally merit an immediate custodial sentence. But he took into account the fact that Eley, who had pleaded guilty to the charge, had no previous convictions.

He imposed an eight-month jail sentence suspended for two years, a three-month driving ban and ordered the defendant to pay his victim £1,000 compensation.

He also ordered Eley to pay a £100 fine, placed him on probation for 12 months and told him he would have to complete 100 hours of unpaid community work.

Store staff are good sports

STAFF and customers at a Harlow supermarket raised an astonishing £5,500 for Sport Relief over the course of an action-packed weekend.

Sainsbury's, in Fifth Avenue, hosted everything from sumo wrestling to virtual bike rides in aid of Friday's televised BBC appeal.

Throughout last week a virtual bike ride from Harlow to John O'Groats was held, with staff taking turns on an exercise bike.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday were also non-uniform days for staff who paid £1 each for the privilege.

Sales of Sport Relief T-shirts and socks also bumped up the takings, while doughnut and ice cream vans donated a percentage of their takings.

Staff members Victoria Penfold and Julie McCrackin and the store's Sport Relief champion Jack Tupper raised £1,000 between them by skydiving in Suffolk.

Supermarket spokeswoman Jane Smith told the Star: "It was an excellent day and it was a lot of money we raised."

"We were very surprised at how much we raised. Last year we raised £3,500 for Comic Relief."

Town leading the way in tackling sale of alcohol to youngsters

THE number of licensed premises in Harlow selling alcohol to children has continued to drop, according to research carried out by the Community Alcohol Partnership.

Latest figures show that 8.3 per cent of the town's off-licences, shops and supermarkets failed test purchases during the past year, compared to 11 per cent in 2008/9.

In 2007/8 the test purchase failure rate in Harlow stood at a massive 35 per cent.

Taking into account that all 60 of Harlow's off-sales premises were targeted for a test purchase check at least once during 2009/10, the improvement in compliance with the law is one of the best in Essex.

Councillor Nick Churchill, chairman of Harlow Council's licensing committee, said: "The health risks to young people from the regular consumption of alcohol are very significant."

"I know this is a very important issue and that councillors will take whatever action is necessary against any premises that come before a licensing sub-committee for selling alcohol to underage persons."

"More and more premises are getting the message that selling alcohol to children it's not worth the risk."

The partnership – made up of representatives from Harlow Council, Essex Trading Standards and Essex Police – will continue its work this year by shifting its focus to preventing adults buying or providing alcohol for children to take out with them.

Cllr Churchill added: "We are leading the way in Essex with this work. What has been achieved by the partnership so far is exceptionally good, but this is only one part of the jigsaw."

"We will introduce new measures to tackle the other two main routes where young people get alcohol and will do whatever we can to stop adults buying or providing alcohol for children."

Schools to be sent DVD to help beat classroom bullies

A NEW anti-bullying DVD is to be sent to every school in Essex.

The teaching pack and DVD, titled The Last Laugh, has been developed to present the findings and recommendations made by the Essex Youth Scrutiny Committee on bullying and to help stimulate discussion in schools on the subject.

Last summer the EYSC consulted over 1,600 young people at events across Essex and discovered that bullying was the issue that caused the most concern.

The EYSC then carried out further investigations into bullying and produced a report with 12 recommendations, which was endorsed by members of Essex County Council's scrutiny board.

The teaching pack and DVD has been designed as a unique way of feeding back the outcomes of the review and presenting the recommendations made.

County councillor Colin Riley, deputy cabinet member for children's services, said: "The Essex Youth Scrutiny Committee aims to raise awareness of youth issues."

"I hope that this DVD will encourage open discussions about how to prevent bullying in classrooms across the county."

Jenny's story

I convinced myself that the results were inaccurate and I would get a call the next day telling me it was wrong. The call never came.

It is now a year since I was given the all clear. Although I faced a real rollercoaster of emotions, I look back and realise how fortunate I was to be treated by the great team at Epping Breast Unit and staff at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

The state-of-the-art procedures that are undertaken every day in the NHS are amazing. Even since I was diagnosed in October 2008, the developments in the detection of breast cancer have already advanced.

On hearing about the new procedure to aid a speedier diagnosis of breast cancer in the armpit lymph nodes, I can already see the benefits for women going through similar surgery.

I previously enjoyed a fairly energetic and active life, my family being a fundamental and important part of my routine. Like every other woman over 50 I knew that routine mammograms were par for the course. I went about my day as normal and attended the scan, not really thinking about the consequences.

Having been recalled a second time in late September due to an unclear finding, I was then sent to St Margaret's Hospital for an ultrasound and biopsy. Although I remained positive throughout the wait, my concerns were confirmed in late October - the test results showed I had breast cancer. I convinced myself the results were inaccurate and I would get a call the next day telling me it was wrong. The call never came.

On the day of my surgery to remove the breast cancer and see if the disease had spread to my armpit nodes, I woke up early and went about my daily routine. No matter the outcome, I was not going to let this surgery hinder my lifestyle.

I woke up from the surgery; I had had the lump and some of my lymph glands removed. They had been sent to be tested. Despite having a major operation I was feeling remarkably sprightly.

I understand the procedure has now changed and PAH is one of only four in the country to offer a new test so patients know the results of the lymph node test when they wake up. If a positive result, the affected nodes have been removed and further treatment is discussed. However, if negative then the patients are told immediately the cancer has not spread beyond the original site. It is such a breakthrough in breast cancer detection. This approach really enables women to feel in control of their future treatment.

With having such extensive surgery in my armpit, I was admitted to the hospital for four days. I recognised this was part of the process so busied myself reading, watching TV and entertaining visitors.

I then had to wait two-three weeks before I knew the results. I remained positive whilst waiting for the results, although I can say hand on heart it was a difficult time in my life.

Early December was a blur but I was intent on making it a memorable family Christmas. Although my family knew the results of the earlier tests, I did not want them to see the anxiety and concern I was really feeling. I went about Christmas preparations as normal.

It was the week before Christmas when the results came back. I remember my consultant calling me into his room. I was trying to read his body language and facial expressions to pre-empt what he was about to say. All I recall hearing him saying is "The results came back negative".

The relief just flooded over me. Whilst I had remained upbeat throughout the whole episode, it was reassuring to hear those words. No more cancer in the surrounding tissue or the lymph glands.

I did have to undergo further treatment to kill the cancer cells located on the original tumour. However, knowing that this was localised and had not spread made it all the easier. I remained full time at work whilst my radiotherapy took place.

Although I experienced some complications from the surgery under my arm, I have continued to live a rewarding and fulfilling life. Although I hope my cancer never returns, I can not predict the future and so live every day to the full.

PAH one of only four to offer a new cancer test

MEDICS at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital have helped to pioneer a radical new test to detect the spread of breast cancer in a single operation.

The sophisticated procedure, which has undergone a six-month trial at PAH, means patients no longer have to wait two weeks to be told if the disease has spread into the armpit nodes.

The immediacy of the findings means any affected nodes can be removed straight away by the surgeon whilst the person is in theatre.

The 40-minute test is conducted on an armpit lymph node which is removed at the start of the operation and sent to the pathology department. If evidence of cancer is found, the remaining lymph nodes are removed whilst the patient is anaesthetised as a precautionary measure.

Previously, a second operation would have been required to remove the remaining lymph nodes which would then be examined, a procedure which would have taken several days to reach a result.

The trial was led by Dr Jolanta McKenzie, PAH's clinical director for cancer and core services, who said: "We have been privileged to be the first of four hospitals to introduce this very sophisticated test.

"It means we can instruct the surgeon on the next step depending on the outcome of the test. It really is a fantastic innovation for the NHS, one that will save patients a great deal of stress and anxiety and for us valuable resources and time."

PAH is the only site in the south of England to pilot this new technology. The intention is to roll it out nationally using the hospital as an example of best practice.

Diamond couple met on the ice rink

CHAMPAGNE corks popped when a couple celebrated 60 years of wedded bliss.

Peggy (83) and Harry (87) Tillotson, of Cooks Spinney, Harlow, were joined by family and friends at a party to celebrate their diamond anniversary.

The Tillotsons first met at an ice skating rink in London where they shared a dance together. Marriage soon followed and they then moved to Harlow in 1952 to settle down and raise a family. The couple enjoyed a taste of the limelight when they appeared on long-running TV gameshow The Golden Shot, hosted by the late Bob Monkhouse, winning an electric knife!

The couple have two children and two granddaughters, one of whom lives in Madrid and the other in London.

Mrs Tillotson, who worked as a credit controller before she retired, said: "The secret to our marriage is respect, romance and sharing. That is very important to us."

"It might not work for everyone but it works for us."

Hilda, who lives at the Ashlyn Care Home in Harlow, proudly posed for photographs clutching a congratulatory telegram from the Queen.

She was joined by fifteen of her closest relatives for a party with cake and presents.

Hilda, who has lived an extremely active life, was awarded a certificate after swimming a mile when she was in her 70s. A keen knitter, she has been forced to put down her needles because of problems with her sight but she still joins in with plenty of other activities.

Activities co-ordinator Jo Mason told the Star: "Hilda has been at the home for six years now and we are a very close bunch. She is a lively lady who always joins in with what's going on."

Stop all these Tory cuts

SIR, Reading the letter from Robert Halfon, the Conservative prospective MP for Harlow, in last week's Star, I find it quite ironic he wrongly stated the Labour Government has been in power now for 14 years. In fact Labour gained power in 1997, 13 years ago.

You may feel I am being pedantic but when he goes on to quote figures and facts it makes you wonder if he gets any of them right.

Mr Halfon then comes out with statistics on infant mortality, alcohol mortality and violent crime. Correct me if I am wrong but all of these issues are under the control of Essex County Council which is run by his own Conservative Party. Conservatives in Harlow have been in power for nearly a year now and all of these issues appear to be local as he clearly quotes.

He quotes unemployment figures which I find a little hypocritical as it is his party that is opposing the expansion of Stansted Airport which would clearly bring in hundreds of jobs. The Conservatives also intend to slash local government spending which will clearly result in local government workers losing their jobs.

David Cameron in his speech to the party's national conference last year stated he was going to take half a million people off disability benefits and put them back into work. Would Mr. Halfon like to explain exactly where they are going to find the jobs for these people?

Truth is, they will just add them to the unemployment figures, raising it back over the three million figure like it was under the last Conservative government.

Mr Halfon should stop running down Harlow and start supporting it by pushing for more jobs at Stansted Airport, putting pressure on the Conservatives at County Hall to provide more assistance to our hospital and schools and stop the Conservatives on Harlow Council making all the cuts in April.

James Gamble
Brocklesmead, Harlow

Keep the over 50s active

SIR, My faith in humankind has been restored. Your article on the Active Retired Scheme's response to the council's withdrawal of support was excellent, showing that older members of the community still have lots of fight in them.

How penny-wise, pound-foolish our council is. Haven't they realised more active over 50s are less of a burden on NHS care facilities!

In the past two years the council has withdrawn funding from the Leah Manning Centre and now its support for the unique over-50s scheme. In spite of what councillors have claimed, there are Government grants available to help encourage such schemes.

Depression is an increasing problem among the ageing, often the result of feeling not only lonely but useless and redundant. The provision for the older generation of activities and centres is essential. We can't all afford to winter in Dubai.

I'm sure a well organised and well advertised retired scheme would not only be an asset, it could bring gains to Harlow. No-one could deny the council has the resources, the computers, the records, the time and our council taxes.

Litter blackspots

SIR, I refer to the article about the smoker who was penalised £650 for discarding a cigarette butt in High Street, Old Harlow (Star, March 18). There is no suggestion that the smoker was asked to pick up the litter before he was given a fixed penalty notice. However, if he was then it was obviously a major mistake for which he has paid dearly.

I have been a resident of Harlow since 1966 and appreciate all that is done, in these difficult times, to care for our environment. However, may I respectfully ask councillor Tony Hall to tell us whether his clean neighbourhood enforcement officers ever visit Coppice Hatch or Staple Tye car park areas?

Whenever I go to the local shops at Coppice Hatch I am greeted by almost 100 yards of pock-marked pavement, a plethora of discarded, trodden-in chewing gum. This surely is far more difficult and expensive to clear up than discarded cigarette butts as is evident for the escalating problem here and in other places in town.

The other place worthy of his enforcement officers' attention is Staple Tye car park, which is often well littered with the discarded remnants of takeaway meals from all the fast food shops there.

The prospect of these sort of penalties could help to deter this sort of total disregard for our town environment, but only if they are given equal importance and attention.

Mick Rumens

More trees please

SIR, So we have an acknowledged problem with litter; a massive fine for dropping a cigarette end and now four enormous ashtrays have appeared in Market Square.

Oh no, sorry, they're tree planters. So we betide anyone who uses them as litter bins or ashtrays!

Seriously though, I hope that they are appreciated and allowed to thrive. If the council can be persuaded to demolish the fixed market stalls rather than the whole

We can't splash out on 'free' swimming

SIR, Bob Stannard appears to presume, wrongly, that Leisurezone charges are made by Harlow Council and suggests over 60s should swim and exercise free (Letters, March 11). Harlow & District Sports Trust, which operates the current sports centre, will operate Leisurezone.

Gordon Brown's handout to over 60s and under 16s, whereby taxpayers subsidise swimming in local authority pools, was a political gesture dressed up as tackling obesity. Most under 16s already swim free in school pools and the problem of over 60s obesity needs tackling much earlier in life, although better late than never.

The sports trust, Harlow Council and Bill Rammell did look at whether the Leisurezone pool qualified. It does not as it is not owned or run by the council.

Many councils that accepted Brown's shilling find his generosity falls short of the real cost, like free bus travel. This costs Harlow £1.6m a year but we get back just £600,000, leaving Harlow's council tax payers to fund the remaining £1m.

Harlow's over 60s (or those on certain benefits) can obtain a free Leisurecard from Harlow Council, accepted by the sports trust, which gives significant discounts. Children's and students' fees are also discounted and under 3s are free.

If the £20m that Harlow Council had in reserves 15 years ago had not been squandered by Labour, perhaps this Conservative administration could consider lavish gestures. But it was, so we can't.

Harlow's council-run pool was costing ratepayers over £1m a year before it succumbed to a combination of age and neglect. Costs like that would wipe out the sports trust.

I hope people will wait until Leisurezone opens and see what a fantastic facility this is before the moaners and nay-sayers start running it down as so often happens here.

Leisurezone is a great example of how Harlow is facing up to the challenges of the 21st century.

Clean up our town

SIR, I read the letter from John Curry last week and agree with his comments about litter.

I walk my two dogs daily around Old Harlow. I carry a plastic bag and pick up cans and bottles and when it is full I leave it next to a litter bin.

I get funny looks from people but I don't care as I live in Old Harlow and like to see it clean.

On several occasions I have to phone the council as these bags are still there several days after and the bins are overflowing. So I say the same as Mr Curry; come on council, get your act together and give us a clean town.

Stuart Crook

A criminal waste

SIR, Bill Rammell and visiting Secretary of State for Education Ed Balls must think we are daft if he really expects us to believe that Labour is "passionately committed to improving education and the life chances of young people" (Star, March 18).

Thirteen years ago Tony Blair, Bill Rammell and New Labour were elected under the mantra "education, education, education". Yet Ofsted reports that 40 per cent of 11-year-olds cannot read or count as they should.

Unemployment today is at its highest level since Labour came to power. Almost a million people under 25 are out of work, well over half a million have been out of work for over a year and more than eight million people in Britain are economically inactive.

Of all these failings, the most damning must be that so many children cannot read or count properly. By failing to honour their 1997 promise, Labour has condemned millions of our young people to a life of poverty and missed opportunity.

Bereft of hope, some I fear will turn to crime whilst others will simply give up any hope of a fulfilling life. And that is truly a criminal waste.

This is not the country Tony Blair and New Labour promised us and it is not one Bill Rammell should be proud of.

Guy Mitchinson

The good old days

SIR, I was pleased to read that Harlow Pool was due to reopen after a £715,000 refit (Star, March 18). What a shame that this news was first published 25 years ago and reprinted in the Nostalgia columns.

Who could have foreseen that the swimming pool would require regular maintenance to keep it in a serviceable condition, which alas was its downfall.

Never mind though, they should be able to squeeze quite a few houses on to the site. Let's hope its replacement will be the same size.

Lane confusion

SIR, I have just witnessed a terrible accident at the traffic lights near Tesco in Edinburgh Way, Harlow. Unfortunately I'm not surprised. It seems whoever marks these roads lacks common sense or wishes to cause road rage and accidents.

There are two lanes at the traffic lights that merge into one immediately. The left lane is also marked as going straight ahead as well as left into Tesco. The (obvious) result is a battle by drivers to get into the one lane.

I wonder if these road markings might be changed before we have a fatality?

Recycling due to hit record high

Thanks to you, recycling figures have increased to over 29% since the new waste collections were introduced only 6 months ago. Harlow is now recycling more than it ever has!

Helping to boost recycling - Katy Thomas helps her Nan Olive Grannell with the recycling.

Over 600 tonnes of food waste - that's 200 lorry loads - has been recycled with less waste being sent to landfill.

Because of your efforts we are likely to hit over 40% in 2010/2011, avoiding Government fines. This is nearly double what Harlow recycled in 2008!

We should all be proud of Harlow's recycling achievement.

To help the town continue reducing waste to landfill and recycling at this rate here are some handy tips:

Compost - If you have a garden, nearly a third of household rubbish can be composted using a compost bin. Visit www.essex.gov.uk/compost.

Cut down on carriers - Use a reusable cloth bag or plastic 'bag for life' for your weekly shop.

Recycle - paper, cardboard, glass, plastic bottles (numbered 1 and 2), cans, tins, clean foil, books and yellow pages using your wheelie bin or blue boxes.

Food waste - wrap your food scraps in newspaper or use compostable caddy liners in your food waste container.

These liners are available from most supermarkets. Please do not use any type of bag that is not a compostable liner.

Shop wisely - purchase items in bulk and aim to buy refills or items with the minimum of packaging.

Reduce your waste - Instead of disposable nappies consider using real nappies. Visit www.goreal.org.uk.

Visit: www.lovefoodhatewaste.com for tips on reducing food waste.

For more information visit: www.harlow.gov.uk/recycling email: contact@harlow.gov.uk or telephone: (01279) 446655.

Recycle when you want

Changes are being made to recycling bringbank sites across the town.

Now that most residents have more bin capacity to recycle at home, seven sites will close from 1 April 2010. The ten remaining sites (listed below) are evenly spread across the town in key locations. These sites will be open all the time.

You will be able to recycle cartons, such as 'Tetra Pak' at Bush Fair Bowls car park, Colt Hatch, Great Parndon Community Association, Katherines Hatch, The Stow and Wayre Street. Books can be recycled at Bush Fair Bowls car park and Wayre Street sites.

The manor house that left its mark on town

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A NEW book charting the remarkable history of a Harlow manor house will be launched on Saturday.

A History of Mark Hall Manor traces the origins of the once-sprawling estate to Roman Britain and tells the story of its evolution up to its present-day use as home for The Museum of Harlow.

The book's editor, Hazel Lake, told Nostalgia how its long history came to shape the creation of the new town of Harlow.

"The last family to own Mark Hall Manor was the Arkwrights," she said. "The Arkwrights had scooped up several local estates including Little Parndon and Netteswell. Richard Arkwright, who was the son of Sir Richard Arkwright, the inventor of the factory system, bought it in 1819. "That is why Harlow is here. It was much easier to buy the new town area because more than half of the land was owned by the Arkwrights and they were willing to sell in 1947."

Rare maps, sketches and family trees have been faithfully reproduced and created by the Friends of Harlow Museum to add to the often tumultuous story of the manor, which includes details of its first named owner – a Saxon free man called Ernulf.

His name is recorded in the Doomsday Book, along with notes of a manor on 30 acres of land, four slaves, woodland for 300 pigs and another 35 acres of meadow.

Centuries later, Elizabeth I visited the manor – which stood between the museum's present location and St Mary's Church – no less than three times between 1571 and 1578.

The last manor house was built on the site in the 18th century but was destroyed in a fire in 1947. Some 100 Land Army girls who were staying there escaped unharmed but the manor house was gone forever.

All that remains is the stable buildings which today house the museum.

● The book launch will be at the museum, in Muskham Road, from 2.30-5pm. Copies will be on sale for £10 and there will also be an exhibition and light refreshments.

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: Rollermania

A COUPLE of weeks ago we turned back the clock to 1974 when a tartan-clad army of fans invaded Harlow Town Park to see their idols, the Bay City Rollers.

Unfortunately the band were late and when they finally came on stage, excited teenyboppers surged forward, crashing through fencing.

One of those who was there was Rollers-mad Wendy Nalan (50), who contacted the Nostalgia desk to say she remembered the day well.

"I had been excited all day as the rollers were my idols back

Dust off those tartan scarves, we're Rolling back the years

then, along with T-Rex," said Wendy, from Stanstead Abbots.

"My sister and I were at the front of the stage. When the crowd went mad I was thrown into the concrete pond.

"I was one of 11 people – kids I should say – who ended up in hospital. I had bruising and cracked four ribs. "I was in a lot of pain for a long time but it was worth it at the time to get a look at my idols."

25 years ago . . .

Cruel carpet con

A pair of confidence tricksters duped an elderly couple into buying a "genuine" Axminster carpet which they promised to fit later but never returned. The pensioners parted with £240 for what police called a "poor quality" bedroom carpet.

Gang overturn car

A gang of youths turned over a car after private party at Barnmead Recreation Centre in the early hours. They were watched by a horrified council park keeper who saw them cause £350 worth of damage.

Stolen digger havoc

A joy rider on a mechanical digger left a trail of havoc causing £2,600-worth of damage. The £10,000 digger was on a building site on Coldharbour Road before the keys were stolen and it was driven 300 yards and down an embankment.

39 cars in M11 crash

An accident in thick fog on the M11 involved 39 cars – but remarkably no one was hurt. The multiple pile-up on the southbound carriageway delayed motorists for three hours with queues stretching back nine miles.

Brave Carlos (7) is hailed a hero

A SEVEN-year-old boy in America has been hailed a hero after calling police when three armed robbers broke into his home and threatened to shoot his parents.

Quick-thinking Carlos barricaded himself and his six-year-old sister in the bathroom while the attackers held his mum and dad at gunpoint.

Grabbing a phone, the brave youngster dialled the emergency number 911. He told the operator: "There's some guy who's going to kill my mum and dad. Bring some cops, a lot of them – and bring soldiers, too."

The robbers then broke into the bathroom and demanded to know who terrified Carlos had been talking to.

When he told them he had called the local sheriff's office, the men ran off without stealing anything.

Captain Pat Maxwell, of the Los Angeles Police Department, said: "If not for the brave and educated actions of this seven-year-old boy, this might have ended tragically."

Carlos later got to meet the woman who took his emergency call. He gave her a hug and they both talked to local reporters about what had happened.

Carlos said he managed to stay so calm because his mum had made him practise calling the police in case there was ever an emergency.

Youngsters excel in musical masterclass

REVIEW
Phoenix Theatre School
Harlow Playhouse

A DASH of Oliver, a smattering of Chicago and a big dollop of Grease. That's what the audience were treated to in the latest offering from the talented youngsters of Phoenix Theatre School.

Six performances were staged over two busy nights as the Harlow school entertained packed houses with song and dance.

The singers and dancers performed with a smile on their face and a spring in their step – and their enthusiasm was infectious.

A young star was born early on in the shape of eight-year-old Jake Poolman, who produced a fantastic solo with the song Where Is Love? from musical Oliver. It would not have seemed out of place on a West End stage and had the audience in raptures.

Grace Wheeler also deserves a mention for a delightful solo performance of the song There Are Worse Things I Can Do from Grease.

Aside from these individual performances, there were some wonderful combinations, many beautifully choreographed by 21-year-old Katie Dale, daughter of Phoenix Theatre School principal Phil Dale.

Worthy of mention was the Year 5/6 link up with 17-year-old Connor O'Sullivan on Got To Pick A Pocket Or Two. Connor was a sublime Fagin and the timing was exceptional from his young collaborators, some aged as young as nine.

The beauty of the school is its ability to effortlessly match seven-year-olds with young adults for complex routines. They seemed to click like pieces of a jigsaw.

As a former manager of The Playhouse, Dale was used to dealing with big stars. Now he's surrounded by a talented band of young stars-in-waiting.

The perfect choice for ballet 'novices'

A CHARMING tale of mirth and magic awaits audiences at The Playhouse next week when Harlow Ballet Association presents a lavish adaptation of 19th century ballet Coppélia. When mysterious and faintly sinister toymaker Dr Coppélius unveils a startlingly lifelike dancing doll to the people of his village, lovestruck youngster Franz becomes infatuated with the toy, much to the annoyance of his fiancée Swanhilde. The light-hearted story becomes complicated when they both, separately, decide to break into the toymaker's house to discover the secret behind his work.

HBA artistic director Michael Branwell said: "Our version is very easy to follow and a perfect introduction to classical ballet for anyone who knows nothing about dance. The production is set against traditional, beautiful scenery, with hundreds of beautiful, traditional costumes and the glorious music of the French composer Leo Delibes."

The ballet runs from Wednesday (March 31) until April 3. Evening performances start at 7.30pm with a Saturday matinee at 3pm. Tickets cost £12 (£7 children) from (01279) 431945.

Dancers' showcase

TALENTED dancers from the Makin' Steps dance school showcased their skills in four performances at the Potter Street Community Centre.

The youngsters took to a makeshift stage in the school's main dance studio and wowed family and friends with almost 30 numbers choreographed in their classes. A diverse range of styles included elements of street dance, hip hop, ballet, tap and modern.

Tutor Scott Simpson said: "It was a lovely opportunity for the students to show their family and friends what they had been working on at the school."

Sassy Sandra is now the girl with a golden touch

DREAMS do come true. Just ask Sandra Bullock.

Earlier this month the reigning queen of the romantic comedy took home the golden Oscar statuette for her role in this life-affirming true story.

Bullock delivers an eye-catching turn as a crusading southern mom, reminiscent of Julia Roberts's Oscar-winning theatrics in Erin Brockovich. She is spunky and sassy, snaffles all of the best lines and manages to make even the sappiest lines in writer-director John Lee Hancock's manipulative script ring true.

On this side of the Atlantic where American football isn't a religion, the underlying tale of sporting triumph against the odds doesn't quite score an emotional touchdown.

However, The Blind Side wears its

THE BLIND SIDE certificate 12A 2h08m

heart on its shoulder padding for its entire 128 minutes and eventually the wholesomeness of the characters as they pull together for a common cause wins us over.

Leigh Anne Touhy (Bullock) is a fervently-Christian housewife in Memphis, Tennessee, who enjoys a privileged life with her husband Sean (Tim McGraw) and children Lily (Lily Collins) and SJ (Jae Head).

Driving home one night, Leigh spots one of the youngsters' classmates – Michael Oher (Quinton Aaron) – wandering along the road and offers the homeless, black teenager a roof for the night.

Leigh takes pity on Michael and offers him a room. She encourages the lad to improve his grades and chase the possibility of an American football scholarship.

However, Michael's abusive past haunts him and he returns to the housing project where he grew up to try to track down his mother. Before long he is running into trouble.

The Blind Side tugs every heartstring and ticks off every cliché. Yet, predictable as it may be, Hancock's film gets under our skin, captained by Bullock's hugely entertaining lead performance.

Aaron is instantly likeable and Head is a little scene-stealer, along with Kathy Bates who makes the most of her slender role as the tutor who helps Michael to improve his grade point average.

NANNY MCPHEE & THE BIG BANG certificate U, 1h49m

This sequel to 2005's original Nanny McPhee introduces the mysterious nanny to a family in crisis in wartime Britain.

This time she lends a hand when trouble brews after a group of city children come to stay on a farm and fall out with the local children.

Nanny McPhee & The Big Bang is a glorious, rumbustious romp that once again demonstrates Emma Thompson's magical touch in front of and behind the camera. As screenwriter, she crafts believable, funny and endearing characters whose plights move us to laughter and tears as the plot twists and turns in unexpected directions.

HOW TO TRAIN YOUR DRAGON (3D) certificate PG, 1h37m

A weedy, young Viking called Hiccup (voiced by Jay Baruchel) has been instructed his whole life that dragons are evil beasts that would eat a man as soon as look at him.

Consequently, Hiccup and the other children in the village all grow up with a hatred of the creatures and dream of training for battle alongside their warrior fathers. Hiccup is too feeble and his father Stoick (Gerard Butler) tries to protect him from harm. However, right-hand man Gobber (Craig Ferguson) suggests that training might give the boy some backbone.

And so Hiccup joins feisty Astrid (America Ferrara) and the other youngsters in the ring where they learn to cope with all manner of beasts. But unbeknown to the other recruits, Hiccup has befriended an injured dragon and has nursed the creature back to health.

As the bond between animal and boy deepens, Hiccup questions everything he has ever been told as he attempts to protect his new friend from a slaying at the hands of his oafish father.

KICK-ASS certificate 15, 1h57m

Dave Lizewski (Aaron Johnson) lives with his father in New York, where he attends high school and admires unattainable classmate Katie Deauxma (Lyndsy Fonseca) from afar.

During a conversation with his comic book obsessed pals, Dave wonders aloud if a normal guy could transform himself into a bona fide superhero. Thus, the teenager buys a wet suit off the internet and becomes the heroic Kick-Ass.

>>still on screen

>>>BOUNTY HUNTER When Milo Boyd (Gerard Butler) divorced his then wife Nicole (Aniston), he thought that was the end of the misery. But all those old emotional wounds are about to be re-opened in Andy Tennant's fast-paced romantic comedy. Now working as a bounty hunter, Milo is hired to track down his reporter ex-wife, who has jumped bail. When he finally catches up with Nicole, Milo finds himself on the run for his life too and the two former lovebirds have to put their many and obvious differences to one side to avoid their pursuers.

>>>I LOVE YOU PHILLIP MORRIS Based on an incredible true story, I Love You Phillip Morris charts the improbable romance of two prison inmates and their subsequent journey of self-discovery on both sides of the bars. Police officer Stephen Russell (Jim Carrey) is sentenced to time in prison, when he meets Phillip Morris (Ewan McGregor). The attraction is instant and once the pair embark on life outside prison, they struggle to stay on the straight and narrow.

>>>SHUTTER ISLAND The lunatics are taking over the asylum, or that's what Martin Scorsese's impeccably crafted psychological thriller would have us believe. Scorsese is all at sea on the Boston Harbor Islands and, for all its style, Shutter Island is a largely predictable and pedestrian yarn elevated by a superior cast, including Leonardo DiCaprio.

>>>HACHI: A DOG'S TALE Hollywood has enjoyed a long love affair with man's best friend, with the canine star often outshining the human actors. This is certainly true in this yarn, which pits Richard Gere and Joan Allen against the cutest of fluffy Akita puppies and an impeccably trained full-grown version. While many dog movies can be little more than a schmaltz-fest, director Lasse Hallström reins it in, keeping his meditation on love and everyday life just the right side of sentimental.

>>>ALICE IN WONDERLAND (3D & 2D) Based on a screenplay by Linda Woolverton, director Tim Burton's descent down the rabbit hole is a characteristically eye-catching and quixotic journey of self-discovery in a world where anything can, and probably will, happen. Mia Wasikowska plays a 19-year-old Alice, with Johnny Depp as her old friend, the Mad Hatter. The visuals are stunning, but the characterisation is weak and Depp's turn as the Mad Hatter is one bout of lunacy too far.

>>kids' club

>>>ALIENS IN THE ATTIC Adventure/comedy about children on a family holiday who must fight off an attack by knee-high alien invaders with world-destroying ambitions. At the same time, the youngsters work hard to keep their parents in the dark about the battle upstairs.

>>>ICE AGE 3: DAWN OF THE DINOSAURS When Sid the sloth's attempt to adopt three dinosaur eggs gets him abducted by their real mother to an underground lost world, his friends attempt to rescue him.

>>>PLANET 51 The computer-animated comedy unfolds on a world far from ours where little green men, women and child live in domestic bliss. But the crash-landing of a dim-witted American astronaut (voiced by Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson) causes chaos.

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
You can flex the more assertive side of your nature or you can use subtlety and charm. I'd go for the latter option especially early in the week, when someone could be an obstacle and rather hard to overcome or persuade. If you try a full-on approach, they Libra. Consider this: if you may dig their heels in even more. So Aries, a laughter and personality should be the order of the day. Call now for more astral advice...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
Memories can continue to burn brightly in your mind, and through the passage of time, and with the help of Mercury and your ruler Venus, you can feel quite nostalgic for days gone past. You can also, however, feel frustrated with any limitations that come from within. If you have fears or anxieties holding you back, try to come to terms with them. Call now for your in-depth forecast...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
You can feel that you're on a roll, and you'd be right to be so optimistic. Your bubbly personality can open the door to opportunities both socially and professionally, and your natural gift for hopping from one situation to another, and the enthralling folk with your bright vibe, can be enormous. Yet around a business matter, do be realistic and plan well. Call for more news and astral advice...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
As much as you might be keen to take on more, or someone is keen to delegate to you more, it's your relationships which will need careful handling early this week. Fortunately as time moves on, your winning way, can help to disarm even the fiercest of critics, but then, they'll not realise, just how determined you are, under your implacable exterior! Call now for your love scope in full...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
The message this week is simple, Are we don't promise what you can't deliver on, or if you do make a promise, do so in the knowledge of how it will impact on your independence. You could find yourself becoming resentful of any such pledges rather quicker than you might imagine. So, think before you speak, and appreciate your need for personal freedom. Call now for more advice...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
You can find yourself touring around real estate agents this week, especially if you are hoping to invest or get that crucial first foot on the housing ladder. If it is the latter, don't be so impressed by frills. Think of how easy it would be to sell a property in the future. Check out local pricing so that you are sure you have the right price point. Be tenacious. Call for your financial forecast in full...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20
The chances of boosting your coffers are very real indeed. However, your social life can also see you spending more money too. But then a matter is more deeply rooted in your subconscious than you realise. Call your prediction line for more...

Small Fiat given a big makeover

Recognisable by the new bumpers front and rear, more aggressive grille and a refreshed lighting arrangement, the Fiat Punto Evo stands out quite uniquely and deserves to be considered alongside its mainstream rivals. MATT JOY takes it for a test drive

No-one has a reputation for building small cars quite like Fiat. For starters, they created possibly the most iconic small car of all time in the shape of the 500.

It also created the template for the modern supermini which has remained in place ever since with the 127, thanks to the front-mounted transverse engine with an end-on gearbox driving the front. Latterly, the Grande Punto has taken over the mantle of these iconic cars, and with its mini-Maserati styling it has won plenty of fans. However, the competition is at its fiercest in the supermini segment, which is where the Punto Evo comes in.

Recognisable by the new bumpers front and rear, more aggressive grille and a refreshed lighting arrangement, the Punto Evo is a nose-to-tail makeover, with the biggest changes happening under the skin.

The changes on the outside are distinctive though: with the grey insert in the bumper, it's worth thinking carefully about the body

FACTfile

Fiat Punto Evo
1.4 MultiAir
Dynamic

£13,095
on the road

ENGINE 1.4-litre petrol unit producing 105bhp and 96 lb.ft of torque
CO<sub>2</sub> EMISSIONS 134g/km
TRANSMISSION Six-speed manual gearbox driving the front wheels
PERFORMANCE 0-62mph 10.8s / top speed 115mph
ECONOMY 49.6mpg combined colour to make the most of the contrast. The Punto Evo now stands out more clearly against the competition.

Step inside and the changes to the cabin are immediately obvious. The centre console has been slimmed down which has freed up more storage space ahead of the gear lever. The new audio system has an attractive piano black finish surrounding it, and the quality of the switches has taken a step up. The specification is impressive, too, with all models bar the entry-level Active model being compatible with Fiat's Blue&Me TomTom unit. As well as being a low-cost sat-nav system, Blue&Me takes data from your journeys and allows you to improve the efficiency of your driving through assessments, all of which are obtained through the Fiat website.

Yet even the Active comes with a height adjustable driver's seat, reach and rake adjustable steering column, electric windows, body coloured heated and electrically adjustable door mirrors, MP3-enabled CD/tuner with steering wheel controls and a driver's knee airbag, something that few superminis have even as an option. The seats have been redesigned, giving a useful boost in comfort, and changes under the skin also help here. The stiffness of the body structure has been increased, the engine mountings have been revised to reduce vibration and there is also more sound proofing, adding up to a significant improvement in refinement and comfort.

But the real headline maker for the Punto Evo is the addition of the MultiAir engine range. As fiendishly complicated and technical as an engine can be, the MultiAir system uses electrohydraulic intake valve actuation as opposed to purely mechanical, and with a clever ECU to control this it results in a significant boost in torque, power and fuel economy over an equivalent engine.

Fiat claims a 10 per cent reduction in fuel consumption and CO<sub>2</sub> emissions alongside a 10 per cent power boost and 15 per cent increase in torque – the holy grail of engine efficiency. You'll notice the efficiency improvements in your wallet, but the boost in output you can feel out on the road.

For a 1.4-litre 105bhp unit it feels remarkably torquey being happy to lug from low revs in a high gear and with respectable urgency too. Conversely, it's also incredibly keen to rev. Although it will do nothing for fuel economy, it is happy to zing around to 7,000rpm, making an engaging sound along the way.

The figures back up this keenness too, with the 0-62mph sprint despatched in 10.8 seconds, better than most of its comparable rivals.

The rest of the driving experience backs it up and although the Punto Evo is not a sharp as the class-leading Fiesta, its keenness is tangible through all the controls, and whether trundling through traffic or out on the scenic route, the steering, brakes and gearshift are all above par.

Comfort isn't sacrificed either, as the improvements in the sound proofing and suspension set up have yielded good results.

The Punto Evo is a much improved car and deserves to be considered alongside its mainstream rivals. The MultiAir engine is a real gem, and changes elsewhere have raised its game to new levels.

It's never too Leyt for a great escape!

Leyton 0, Harlow Tn 2

Ryman League, div one north

By DAVID RIMMER at Lea Bridge Road

THE spoils were deservedly taken by the Hawks as they defeated fellow strugglers Leyton in a six-pointer.

Although the hosts created openings they lacked the killer edge in the last third while Harlow passed better and were more dangerous in front of goal as they wrapped up their third win in four games.

Hawks were boosted with inspiring midfield performances from Mark Taylor and Shaun Gliddon, while Fiston Manuella and Emmanuel Osei scored their first goals for Harlow.

Hawks' squad at Lea Bridge Road on Saturday included midfielder Jason Mason and centre-half Paul Kear, who have returned to the club from Brentwood and Concord Rangers respectively.

Neither goal was seriously threatened in a scrappy opening period and on 16 minutes, Leyton right-back Tom Hodge was cautioned for a foul on Hawks' young forward Reece Dobson.

Taylor's free-kick from the left then clipped the near post and on 26 minutes Gliddon set up Dobson and he fired against the bar.

The deadlock was broken

TURN AROUND: Since Tommy Cunningham, left, and assistant Kevin Warren, centre, have taken over the reins at Barrows Farm, the side have won three out of five games (HSP0634457) on 40 minutes. Taylor's header saw Osei shrug off Chris Tucker's challenge and go on to shoot through the legs of home keeper Alluudas Ceponis.

A minute later at the other end, a neat three-man move resulted in Tom Prendergast shooting wide from close range.

On 44 minutes, Dobson's cross was half cleared before it fell to Manuella who guided an awkward bouncing ball into the corner, putting the Hawks 2-0 up. The hosts had a few chances in the second period, the best of which came and went on 50 minutes. Ivo Ginev's cross from the right found an unmarked Mo Habu but he could only scuff the ball straight at home keeper James Hasell from four yards.

Ola Shennawo was booked for a bad tackle on Hawks left-back Spencer Knight on 55 minutes and seven minutes later, Hasell kept out an awkward swerving Shennawo shot.

Harlow's best moment in the second half came on 86 minutes when Julian Edwards set up Dobson but he fired wide with just Ceponis to beat.

Hawks caretaker boss Tommy Cunningham said: "We could have been 4-0 up at half-time.

"Two-nil is a dangerous lead to have and if they had put their chance away at the start of the second half, it may have been different but if it had, we may have gone on to win very comfortably.

"It was a very solid performance and we played more as a team. They [Leyton] played more as individuals."

HARLOW TN: Hasell 7, Protheroe 6, Knight 6, Chapman 6, Thomas 7, Manuella 7, Taylor 7 (Hayes 90), Gliddon 8, Edwards 6, Osei 7, Dobson 7 (Mason 86). Subs not used: Kear, Horton (gk), McNamara.

● HAWKS left-back Mike Haswell has joined Billericay Town. The defender only played a couple of games after signing from Chelmsford City.

Silver medal double at county championships for swimmer Tomas

TOMAS Stevens claimed two silver medals and set a national qualifying time when he competed in the Hertfordshire County Swimming Championships.

The 12-year-old Harlow-based swimmer also set a series of personal bests last weekend at Borehamwood.

Tomas, of Deer Park, set a PB of 32.20s when he came second in the 50m backstroke heat.

This gave the Hoddesdon Swimming Club member a spot in the final where he registered another PB of 31.52s and came second.

Tomas's second silver came in the 100m backstroke when he clocked a PB and a national qualifying time of 1 min 7.91 secs in the final.

Earlier, he had registered a PB (1:09.03) when he came second in the heat.

He also qualified for the finals of the 50m freestyle and 100m freestyle where he clocked 29.85 secs (6th) and 1:05.18 secs (7th).

Tomas had previously recorded a 4th in the 200m backstroke with a PB of 2:33.05.

Victory banishes fear of relegation

Harlow 2, Romford 1

East Men's Hockey League, division four south east

THE relegation fears of Harlow were banished as they came from behind to beat promotion-hunting Romford at home in their penultimate game.

Harlow needed only a point from Saturday's clash to be certain of avoiding the drop and they did better than that with a resilient display.

Harlow captain Joe Symonds said: "With a performance like that it shows we deserve to be in this league."

"It's a shame we had such an inconsistent team this season as I feel with a bit more stability we would have been pushing teams like Romford for promotion."

Romford needed to win to keep their hopes of promotion alive but the result proved academic for them as second-placed Little Baddow won to get the second promotion spot.

Harlow had the edge at the start before Romford took the lead against the run of play.

The hosts then gave away possession in midfield and a move down the left preceded a pass across which was tapped in.

Home keeper Adam Johnson kept

ON THE MARK: Chris Shearman-Slack celebrates after scoring against Romford on Saturday (HSP0636227)

Harlow in it with a brilliant reflex save.

The hosts went down to 10 when Adam Ottley was sin-binned for a body challenge, but despite being a man down equalised before the break.

A three-man move started by Symonds culminated in Chris Shearman-Slack receiving the ball and finishing at the back post.

Harlow, back to a full compliment shortly after the break, went ahead when a 16-yard hit by Symonds found Ottley on the left wing. He drew the keeper out before squaring for Shearman-Slack to strike into the bottom corner.

Harlow soaked up pressure and Johnson made an excellent save with five minutes left.

A penalty corner resulted in a shot from the top of the D being deflected round a post by Johnson's feet.

HARLOW: Johnson, Chandler, Symonds, Gorringer, Smith, Shearman-Slack, Ottley, Plumridge, Krzoska, Hastler, Light.

Sky the limit in final Wanstead flattened

SKY Mulvey and Isobel Moss were in outstanding form in the final Chingford Cross Country League fixture.

Sky (11), from Mark Hall School, had only recently recovered from a nasty chest infection but ran 5 mins 38 secs in the U-13 girls section, coming first and helping her team take third spot.

Passmores School student Isobel (14) completed the 3km course in 12 mins 17 secs for the U-15 girls, helping Woodford AC win the trophy for that age group.

Ben Patterson (12), another Mark Hall student, ran a storming 5 mins 21 secs to win the first leg for the U-13 boys. He was 4th fastest for his age group in helping his club, Orion Harriers, win their event and the trophy overall.

Perry Rowan (13), a Burnt Mill School student, stepped up an age group to U-15 to ensure his club, Woodford, had a team of U-15s and he rose to the occasion, recording the third fastest lap and running 10 mins 46 secs for the 3km course, just 22 secs down on the fastest lap.

Stewards' Sam Benge (16) and Passmores' Lauren Freeman (16) ran the 3km course twice to ensure they had a complete teams for their age groups (U-15 and U-17). Lauren ran 12:31 – the second fastest time for U-17 girls – and Sam clocked 10:17 – the second fastest time for U-17 boys.

Team go up despite defeat

DESPITE a 3-2 defeat in their last game of the season at North Herts, Harlow still gained promotion to division three in the Herts

League. Harlow's fifth seed Andy Davis lost the deciding match 3-2 against North Herts. Earlier, Ian Gould and Dave Gear both lost 3-0 before Mike Symmonds and Dan Collison won their matches for Harlow. Harlow II lost 3-2 at Bishop's Stortford in their last match.

A CONVINCING display was put in by Harlow Colts when they won 53-12 at Wanstead.

Sunday's game was a 12-a-side one and the Rams profited from the extra space this afforded.

Winger Luke Hammond put Harlow ahead within a minute with a try in the corner before Wanstead replied with a converted try. The Rams bounced back with a try from inside centre Josh Drake which was converted by fly-half Lewis Alderman.

Kieran Gleeson and skipper James Lewis then scored tries for Harlow who led 22-12 at half-time.

The second half saw Rams tries come from Gleeson, Drake, Lewis, Palmer and Alderman. Alderman kicked one conversion and Chris Poon kicked two.

A strong forwards display helped Harlow U-15s beat

Youth rugby

Datchworth 27-15 at home.

The visitors scored an early try before Sonny Handcomb broke off from a rolling maul to score Harlow's first try.

Handcomb scored another unconverted try and the sides were level (10-10) at the break.

The second half saw Harlow score three more tries through Cormack Roberts, Mason Newborough and Josh Davies, who also kicked one conversion.

Harlow U-14s lost 29-31 at Romford & Gidea Park after the visitors enjoyed a half-time 17-12 lead.

Scott Whitby scored three tries and kicked two conversions for Harlow, whose other tries came from Tom Cunningham and Mitchell Sinfield.

Jack Almond scored the try for Harlow U-13s when they lost 42-5 at home to Colchester.

Side seal second

A FINAL position of second spot was clinched by Harlow Hawks when they won 76-50 at Hatfield Magic in Herts Basketball League division two.

Hawks had a good start, going 16-10 up in the first quarter of their last league game.

They went on to win by 26 points with Rimantas Norkelinas their highest points scorer with 26.

In their penultimate match, Harlow Hawks led 30-24 at the halfway stage against Ware Wolves before pulling away to win 71-49.

Nick Moss (20) was Hawks' leading scorer.

The final position comes after Hawks came second from bottom in their first season of competition (2008-09).

Target is strikers

He picked up two bookings against Tilbury 12 days ago, earning him a red card.

However, Chapman would probably have missed this game any way as he is troubled with a groin injury.

His experience and know how is crucial.

Cunningham said:

"It is well documented that Danny has not trained for a long while and he has done fantastically well for us."

"Sometimes the body says enough is enough. Hopefully Danny will be OK for Tuesday."

Meanwhile, fellow division one north club Wingate & Finchley have put in a seven-day approach for keeper Callum Horton.

Keeper Ashley Harris may re-join Harlow after spending a spell at Barrows Farm earlier this season.

Cunningham knows that nothing than the maximum points will do from the Potters Bar and Maldon games.

"Before the Heybridge game I was looking for six points (from the next three) and now we have to get two wins," he said.

"We just have to keep the pressure up on Redbridge (second from bottom) and Leyton (third from bottom)."

Cont'd from back

The hosts started the second half in a determined mood and equalised 10 minutes after the break when Anna Ferdinando bundled the ball home from close range.

The visitors immediately regained their advantage; a shot from the left deceiving the Harlow defence and Linda Rowley in goal before finding the net.

Despite breaks from Georgina Esterhuysen and Jess Ashford, Harlow were unable to breach the visitors' defence for the equaliser.

Boss targets new strikers

TOMMY Cunningham hopes to boost his Harlow Town squad with a striker before the transfer deadline (March 31).

Hawks' caretaker boss has looked at a number of forwards including Mitchell Hahn (Bishop's Stortford) and Tony Boot (Dagenham & Redbridge).

Cunningham said: "The priority is a forward. I have spoken to a number of people. It's trying to attract people to our cause [beating the drop]. It is because of where we might be playing next season [in the Essex Senior League].

"If we were definitely staying up, I am sure I would have got one or two forwards in. Kevin Warren [assistant boss] is speaking to one or two players he knows."

Midfielder Ryan Maxwell could make a return for Hawks' home league clash against Potters Bar Town this Saturday.

He underwent hospital treatment 16 days ago for a neck and back injury sustained in the closing stages of Harlow's 2-1 league victory at VCD Athletic.

He is due to have a scan tomorrow (Friday).

Cunningham said: "If the scan is all clear he will be available for selection on Saturday. He will be a big boost for us. We have missed him.

"He was superb for us at VCD and although Shaun Gliddon has done well for us it is good to have numbers."

Central defender Danny Chapman is banned for the Potters Bar game.

Hawks goalie sounds battle cry after heavy loss

Harlow Tn 0, Heybridge S 4
Ryman League, division one north

GOALKEEPER James Hasell refused to throw in the towel after watching his Harlow Town side suffer a huge blow to their hopes of staying up as they were beaten 4-0 at home to Heybridge Swifts on Tuesday.

Having had a goal disallowed, the Hawks were stung on 26 minutes when 22-year-old referee Jake Hillier awarded a controversial penalty for handball which was scored.

Heybridge went on to net three second-half goals in another luckless night for Harlow.

Hasell said afterwards: "I've asked them all and they all said they didn't handball it. I don't know what the ref has seen."

But the custodian, who only returned to the club in February, said the side would not give up beating the drop until it was mathematically impossible. "We cannot worry about what other sides are doing. It did not happen for us tonight - but it was not a 4-0 result. We will draw a line under it and have another go at getting three points on Saturday.

"We are moving in the right direction but we would have been up against it even with the 10 points [deduction] back.

"It's a guessing game as to the initial penalty award.

It was 2-0 on 54 minutes when Nathan Smith's header from a tight angle deflected in off the face of Harlow captain Lee Protheroe.

On the hour the visitors made it 3-0 when the pacey Tom Broadhurst cut in from the right and tucked the ball past Hasell.

The hosts went close to a consolation a minute later when Julian Edwards' goal-bound header was superbly tipped round a post by Swifts keeper Jamie Bowyer.

Heybridge grabbed a fourth on 90 minutes when Mark Crick tucked in low from 12 yards out.

Caretaker boss Tommy Cunningham missed the match with a bad back.

what we need to keep us up. We will try and pick up as many wins as we can. We are in a frustrating position but we are giving it everything."

The Hawks were without centre-half Danny Chapman (groin injury) so Paul Fear, who has returned to the club from Concord Rangers, was given a start.

The match burst into life on 21 minutes when Fiston Manuella headed against the Heybridge bar. The ball came back out to Liam Thomas and he stabbed it over the line but the ref disallowed this for off-side.

The hosts rued this as Swifts controversially went in front five minutes later when Mr Hillier awarded a penalty after he saw a hand block skipper Luke Hammond's free-kick. Hammond smashed the spot-kick straight down the middle, giving Hasell no chance.

Hasell was also booked for dissent after reacting angrily to

Ladies eye top two finish with double header

IF Harlow Ladies can win both their remaining home games this weekend they can secure second spot in the premier division of the Essex Women's Hockey League.

This was despite a 2-1 home defeat against Old Loughtonians II on Saturday, which ended Harlow's long unbeaten run.

The hosts went a goal down early on and suffered another blow when Anita Shearman-Slack sustained a deep cut to a leg from an errant stick and had to go to hospital for treatment.

Harlow then had to reshuffle their pack.
